PENITENTIARY INMATES VISIT CLC NOV. 5

A chance to get outside prison walls is welcomed by inmates, especially those serving long sentences.

Students will have an opportunity to meet Rev. Arno Bablitz, Protestant Chaplain at Drumheller Penitentiary, at Chapel on Monday, Nov. 5. He has visited CLC several times before with different pairs of inmates. This is part of a Contact Group program organized by Father Dave Andrews, the R.C. chaplain at Drumheller Institution.

Pastor Karel Lunde has invited the Contact Group to visit his Religious Studies classes on Nov. 5. The presentation involves a short slide show of the Drumheller facility by Rev. Bablitz. The two inmates each introduce themselves, say where they are from, what sentence they are serving and why, what their work or educational activity is in jail, and what they plan for the future. Then questions are invited from the class.

No danger

Inmates have been carefully screened so there is absolutely no danger involved in such visits. Prisoners must have served a considerable proportion of their sentence before being granted escorted pass such as this. (The chaplain is their "escort".)

Very few inmates are eligible for Contact Group passes. You will not meet "representative" inmates from the pen... these will be the most trusted and most dependable. They are also under great pressure from other inmates to behave, as any slip-up would mean the end of the Contact Group. This would be unfortunate as it is one of the few opportunities available to get outside the jail.

Why have a Contact Group?

One of the most debilitating aspects of a long prison sentence is that you lose touch with the real world. Since everyone ends up back "on the street" sooner or later, concerned people are trying to develop ways to ensure a smoother transition from prison to freedom, to increase the rate of success of rehabilitation. It is very difficult to go suddenly from total protection to total freedom. Visits such as these are very helpful.

Results of Previous Visits

Reports indicate that many students have welcomed the opportunity to meet Contact Group members and learn first hand about conditions in Canadian prisons. What does it mean to lose your freedom? Do prisoners have any rights? Are we oddling our prisoners?

A few students were scared to learn inmates had been invited. However, they were soon reassured by those who attended the classes, or by attending themselves.

The Contact Group welcomes invitations to talk all over the province to service clubs, church groups, school, and university classes, clubs or just groups of interested people. If you are interested, or anyone who might be interested, write to Father Dave Andrews, Contact Group, P.O. Box 3000, Drumheller, T0J 0Y0.

INTRAMURALS

Sunday the 21st will be the first intramural bike race. Each house will run a relay race on bikes.

The following weeks will include a badminton tournament on the 23, 24, and 25th of October. Volleyball starts up in the last week of this month.

NOTE TO ALL SPORT REFS: Meetings are held every Tuesday morning in CCS in the Convocation Centre at 9:20 - 9:40 am. All refs must attend!

OUR PRESIDENT - IN THE YEARS BEFORE THE DEGENERATION

air raid in which his hair was enriched by a passing bird. Since this, things have gone all downhill, including the time when his tree fort, built over top of an old outhouse, caught fire and burned down. (There is room here for a comment about Kevin raising a stink, but we're not touching it.) His record grows worse as he moves into the age of adolescence. At age 9 he assaulted a nurse whose only fault was in giving him a few allergy shots (24). His fierce manias were no doubt aggravated at this time period by a near-fatal escape from a collapsed igloo. (Note the development thereafter of the perfect snow job.)

This miscreant's love of censorship was also fostered young. Our sources indicate that when the aspiring politico was fourteen, he would black out those parts of his 8mm movie showings which he felt to be objectionable. He also managed to hook up a 'bug' by which he would record phone conversations, no doubt to gain power-by-scandal over people. The tables, as they say in beer-drinking contests, are now turned.

HOME COMING

The weekend has potential, that's for sure! New people, old people, all sharing a common part of their lives. An important part ...CLC.

This will be one of the biggest and best homecomings ever! Quiet, reminiscent, rowdy, long, short, great, fantastic, studious (heaven forbid!), big, small, fun, wild, excellent, relaxing... whatever it is for you, it will be one to remember. So get yourself psyched up and be ready to go for it! It's "A TIME FOR TOGETHERNESS!"

And this is what it looks like:

CLCSU - LATIN AMERICAN STYLE (LF)

Doesn't look like a cruel, vindictive dictator, does he? Kevin Midbo - tall, clean-cut (except for his five o'clock shadow at nine in the morning), and smiling (or is that a leer?): in every respect the perfect president. But The Dag feels that each and every reader has the right to know the sordid truths behind this man's calm facade.

Careful research into the history of this man leads to several startling - nay, astounding! revelations about his character. At an early age he began to thwart authority, starting with critical observations and harassment of a harmless old cleaning lady. His deep, dark complex about life in general probably had its first roots in the trauma of an

Editorial

One is tempted to become a teeny bit critical about college life when one is in a position of responsibility to the public (all five of you) as I find myself. For example, at the last soccer intramurals this week I found myself thinking not so much of what a great time we were all having (?), but instead of how dark it was getting! I did have some provocation, however. It was when I bumped into someone at about quarter to seven that I realized all was not right. "Whose team are you on?" he asked.

"Odin"

"Oh. Do you know when the sun went down?"

"About 45 minutes ago."

"Oh. Who's winning?"

"I don't know. I have the ball right here."

"Really? Why don't you try to score?"

"Which way is the net?"

Better include an almanac in the budget for next year's intramural planners...

*****

About the phone situation, does anybody know whether those poor souls in North are going to have to pay for their phones for the full year? Since it was included in Student Fees, do they get some kind of a discount because they've been ripped off, ripped off, ripped off, this is a recording (click).

*****

If you've been paying attention to the Students' Union lately, you will have noticed that there is a weather advisory out on the budget! The money situation is frozen tighter than a (figure of speech deleted). Anything on the budget is still okay (the Bag thanks you, Lord), but anything extra is cut off. Tyr has already had one house event cancelled, to the incoherent fury of house president Scott Bullis. It seems that there's an auditor coming at the end of the next month and SU-Administration haven't got the finances co-ordinated with the result that the Students' Union wants independent control over their money. (Our money.)

By a strange coincidence, I came across part of a sci-fi play in an attic the other day. The characters, are Kevi, Students' Union President of Mars College, PreJonasi, Grand Administrator of same institution, and his ever faithful financial manager, Tribly.

Kevi: You wanted to see me sir?

PreJonasi: Yes. Your Students' Union is out off financially.

Kevi: But sir, what have we done?

Tribly: Oh, nothing. We just found some outstanding debts from past years. There is $4580. for the college astro-bus which isn't paid, and another $4500. for - oh, assorted expenses. That is $9000., but we are allowing each Students' Union for the next three years to pay it off in $3000. installments. Nice of us, huh?

Kevi: But our budget--

PreJonasi: You have a budget?

Kevi: I sent you a copy ages ago!

PreJonasi: Oh? Well, I must have lost it. It doesn't matter. Students have never been able to manage money anyway.

Kevi (fume) (whisper) (growl)

Tribly: You also have some more money owing on the astro-bus. We sent it in for repair ... there's an invoice somewhere ... (shuffles papers) ... Ah!

Kevi: We never heard about this! This is dated months ago! Why do we never have any idea what you're charging to us or how much we've spent?

PreJonasi: Well, the state of affairs are such that I am unable to say at this time the wherefore and - - Tribly?

Kevi: You do know how much money we have, don't you?

Tribly: Yes, but we don't want to send the bills to you because we're still mad about you getting a phone in your tiny little Students' Union office.

Kevi: But it was up to us to make that decision! I had a full vote at one of our meetings, three Venudays ago.

PreJonasi: You have regular meetings?

This has no relation to our situation, of course. We can be fully confident that SU and Administration will work on our money situation out smoother than a (figure of speech deleted). Believe that? Now, would anyone like to make an offer on this fine bridge, originally from Brooklyn?

A physician was walking down the street with his wife. As they passed a vivacious young blonde she nailed him gaily.

The doctor's wife eyed him suspiciously. "Where," she asked, "did you meet that young lady?"

"Oh, she's just a young woman I met professionally."

"Whose profession? Yours or hers?"

Letters to the Editor

Editor's Note: This is a reprint from a post--guys' party issue of last year's Bag. It could be...useful to anyone planning this year's Party.

Saturday night guys party for the girls is the reason I'm writing. The food was very good. The decorating reflected a lot of planning. Obviously much effort, time and money was spent, not least some life-risking. The toast indicated that the evening was dedicated to showing your appreciation of us, your sisters. The program could have been consistent with this goal. Was it? Several scenes displayed talent, creativity, imagination and a variety of moods. But did all the scenes reflect your sincere intent? Weren't some blatantly inconsistent? Did pathetic insensitivity spoil your effort? "Head flies can make a whole bottle of perfume stink, and a little stupidity can cancel out the greatest wisdom." (Scc. 10:1)

Jokes at the expense of the female sex are not the most effective ways to say, "We love you girls." Even if not viewed as a put-down -- portraying women as stupid, crude and lacking any nobleness of character -- they still were far from being in the best of taste. I won't name specifically several off-color and controversial scenes. However, for the sake of having at least one concrete example -- yet without singling out a few guys as responsible -- I'd like to examine one particularly offensive "fly" in the "perfume", namely the portrayal of the rapists. Does the fact that this kind of perverse "humor" gets laughs justifying spoiling the evening for even one person? Even if this "attempt" at satire were allowed on television, offended viewers at least have the choice of switching channels or turning off the set. Yet at an evening intended to be unforgettably special for all the girls the only choice was to try to ignore vulgarity or leave. Did it ever occur to any of you guys that there might possibly be girls on this campus that have been raped? Guys, where's your sensitivity?

Even if you choose to apologise, my major concern is that our future parties will be what we say they're to be. We need to, in the flurry of planning and sleepless nights, step back, view our work objectively and ask ourselves some questions: What are we trying to say? How are we saying it? Are we sacrificing quality and clarity in our message by over-emphasizing physical trimmings? Has the wrapper become more important than the gifts, is our entertainment, both the secular and the Christian, good quality and in good taste? Are there any "flies" creeping into the "perfume"? Is there respect shown for the College's stand for Christianity? Would the physical presence of Christ -- the only True God of light, peace and friendship -- give us cause for shame or celebration?

Your saddened but hopeful sister.

CHAPLAIN'S CHAT

About the time that this issue of the Dagligtale hits the stands we will have observed a special day in this International Year of the Child. It was Children's Day on October 24th. I believe that within the hear of each of us there is a child, a wide-eyed wonder-filled child who looks expectantly to the adventures and discoveries of each new day, a child who loves to run and jump and sing spontaneously and joyfully, a child who can be awed and inspired by the little things of life, a child who can dream and can have his imagination carry him on clouds to the far corners of the world!

Sometimes we tell our children (and we've heard it said to us), "Grow-up! Don't be so childish!" And indeed we do need to grow up. We must indeed give up childish ways if we are to become mature, responsible people. But I don't think that means destroying the child-like qualities of faith and trust, of joyful spontaneity and imagination, of mystery and awe, of discovery and adventure. Perhaps this is why Jesus used the illustration of a child so often in his parables and in his discussions with his disciples concerning the Kingdom of God.

Take care of your child - the child in your heart and spirit that gives your life a fresh, vibrant dimension. "Have you hugged your kid today?"

Peace in Christ!
Pastor Jim

FOSTER CHILD

Camrose Lutheran College sponsors a foster child. His name is Cesar Bastos Dos Santos. He lives approximately 25 miles from Rio de Janeiro in Brazil. He is now 9 years old and attends the 3rd grade of primary school. His health is fairly good although he is being treated for intestinal worms. His father works as a bricklayer helper. The mother and older sister Magali work as domestic helpers. The family has a net income total of about $132.60 per month for 11 people. They live in a two-room hut with dirt floors. The cash grants from the college have been used for food and assorted fares. The PLAN workers have accomplished deeds to better the people's lives, including a massive vaccination program, water filters for drinking water, medical examinations, fluoride treatment, and housing improvement. Letters from Cesar and pictures of him can be seen on the Foster-Child bulletin board in the convocation centre. If anyone wants to know more about Cesar and/or the fosterchild PLAN contact Greg Hall - (A10 Solheim). Finally I think the college deserves commendation for supporting PLAN.

CLC CAPTURES 3 Gold, 3 Silvers in 6 Events

CLC athletes really strutted their stuff last weekend at the cross-country and canoe meet in Calgary.

In cross-country the men took the gold with a score of 24; easily, out-distancing their closest challenger, NAIT, by 19 points. Greg Hall placed fourth followed by Steve Hanson (5th), Marty Mitchinson (7th), Vern Holmgren (9th), Scott Mc Gregor (10th), and Gordon Scott (11th).

The girls were beaten by only a single point, 22 to 23 by NAIT. Fast Frances Davidson was in a two-women race with defending champion, Julie McDonald, of RBC finishing only one second behind the leader and four minutes ahead of the rest of the pack. Lynn Cragg was (5th) followed by Shelley Peterson. Next were Wanda Parry (10th) and Yvonne Kitchchrist (15th).

The course itself was far from perfect with five inches of new snow. The runners found it difficult to get around the slower competition.

In canoeing the women's team again (as well as the mixed) outclassed the rest of the competition to bring home the Gold, while the strong men's and war canoe teams captured the silver.

The weather was cold but the wind held off to make the water conditions almost perfect.

CLC is proud of you. You've set a tough pace to beat next season.

SOMETHING TO NOTE

By Jon Eriksson

The Jazz-Café given by "The Dennis Hendrickson Quartet" in the Coffee house Oct. 12 evoked nothing but admiration and appreciation from all who attended. It was generally masterfully presented, including the late start.

The four musicians, Dennis Hendrickson, Bill Lessot, Doug Keach, and Gary Chocora all display complete fanatical involvement in their personal instruments, respectively keyboards, guitar, bass, and drums. It could be mentioned that each member of the quartet has been "privately majoring" in musical study and practice for the past 4 to 6 years (or more!). At present Dennis, Bill, and Doug are majoring in music on the way to a B.A. or B.Ed. All four guys are fairly "accomplished," already having good knowledge and experience in this or similar types of performance.

In volleyball Coach Ellen's Vikettes plan to work on their game plan in preparation to play the alumni game this weekend. Special emphasis will be placed on the "two-setter" attack which she feels will add to their offensive power.

The Vikings will make their final cuts on the 23rd and then travel to Wetaskin and Camrose Composite High School the next day. Good Luck Guys!

Last weekend they beat CRES 3 games to 2 and impressed Coach Brian Cassidy in the process.

The Viking Basketball team has been trimmed down to size and now one the roster are: Paul Pedde, Glenn Howard, Phil Baker, Rob Berger, Gerald Cousins, Howard Gill, Rob Maloughney, Gary Roth, Brad Starcheske, Gerald Wiesbach, Kent Wickstrom, Terry Wiesbach, and Chris Nicol. In talking with Coach Laurson, I was impressed with his enthusiasm. "We're improved by 200% over last season easily," he said. The areas in which he feels the greatest improvements have taken place is in the team's overall height and especially attitude. They should jell as a team by the end of November and then Look Out World!

Coach Asorte's Vikettes are also in their "coming together" stage. They are going to be in tough competition this weekend when they play the alumni starring Lynn Cragg and Company.

O'er Hill and Dale

By Greg Hall

Saturday, October 20 was the day for the Alberta College Athletic Conference Cross-country running championships hosted by Mount Royal College in Calgary. The going was cool in 6 inches of snow but as Gary Gibson says, cold is "weather for the Vikings" and the teams fared well. The men's team took 1st place honours with the women's team obtaining 2nd, being narrowly defeated by Red Deer College. The teams were coached by Marv Lee and Lyle and Ellen Benson. The team as a whole would just like to express our appreciation for the "MARvelous" coaching. (Thanks very much) Team members were Martin Mitchinson, Steve Hansen, Scott Mc Gregor, Vern Holmgren, Gordon Scott, Greg Hall, Francis Davidson, Wanda Parry, Lynn Cragg and Shelley Peterson.

Marten's Philosophy of Life

It is better to be crazy and happy than sad and sane!

(Something to note--con't)

The compositions were of a mediocre to good quality with interspersed patterns, melodies, rhythms and harmonies of masterpiece quality; exquisite, pure genius. Improvements could occur in the harmonic chord movement; long sections seemed sometimes stagnant, progressing through simple chords and returning to begin again upon the same cycle. Such basic and stable passages were evidently the bedrock upon which individual and group improvisation was formed. As Gary Chocora said in introducing the group and their music, a great deal of each piece consisted of improvisation, spontaneous composition. Some of the concert therefore was a new sound experience even to the musicians themselves. This of course is conventional in much jazz.

The quartet works well together. It cooks. Their music clean, crisp, "tight". One observes a sensitivity upon the part of the musicians towards each other and each other's musical role that is refreshing to a listener accustomed to high school stage and concert bands. This sensitivity is a present (and growing) musical maturity among the quartet. Because of it one can forecast that they will be compatible and continue to work happily together towards similar excellence in the future.

SAIT Wins ACAC GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP '79

Dr. E. Ashton

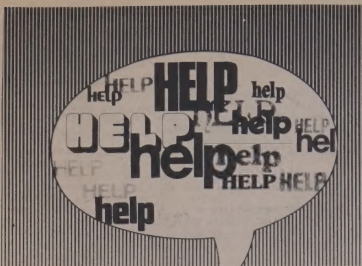

At the 1979 ACAC Golf Championship hosted by the Red Deer Golf and Country Club, SAIT emerged victorious after the two-day 36 hole tournament with a team total of 660 strokes. Following close behind were NAIT with 666, Red Deer College with 689, and Mount Royal College with 699. After slow start on the first day, Medicine Hat College picked up ground (besides divots) to be fifth with 705 strokes, followed closely by Camrose Lutheran College at 711 strokes and Grande Prairie with 717. Lethbridge Community College was eighth with 729 and Grant MacEwan at distant ninth with a grand total of 845 strokes.

A highlight for Camrose Lutheran College Gerald Weissbach finishing 4th in individual play, 5 strokes behind the winner, with back to back eights for a two-day total of 160 strokes.

Weatherwise, day one was cool, wet and breezy but day two was played under conditions considered to be a golfer's dream with summer-like temperatures and clear skies.

Financially speaking...we're here to help!

For some students, getting together enough money to meet the costs of post-secondary education is difficult... and that's why we're here! If this is your problem, the Students Finance Board may be able to provide you with financial assistance... in the form of loans, grants, scholarships, fellowships or bursaries.

For general information and advice about financial aid, contact the Student Awards Officer at your institution. The Awards Officer is familiar with the various types of assistance that the Students Finance Board may provide, as well as with other sources of funding.

The Awards Officer can advise also on initiating an appeal should you consider the assistance awarded insufficient to meet your financial needs.

If you require more specific information regarding your eligibility for assistance through the Students Finance Board, or wish to write, phone or meet with a member of the Board's counselling staff, please contact:

Can we trust such an oligarchy!!!

El Generalissimo has bought airplane tickets for the Fall Break, so perhaps we should be careful to check the Students' Union ban account on that night! But don't worry, Bob, we can extradite from Minnesota...

COLLEGE KNOWLEDGE

Audrey Flato & Paul Tornquist

In an attempt to get student opinions on Camrose Lutheran College (and also to fill up a page of this newspaper) we at the Dag did this interview on life at CLC. Although we did run into some problems, especially when it came to taking pictures (Right Lorraine!?), we managed to get some interesting opinions, and we'd like to say thanks to those who took time to answer our questions.

The six areas we asked these people about were:

The Athletic program (including intramurals)
Social Life (dances, concerts, SU activities, etc.)
The Faculty
Dorm Life
Religious Life
Why they came to CLC

Here are their responses:

(We at the Dag wish to apologise to Fred Morck for omitting his interview due to a lack of space.)

Lorraine Jorgensen 2nd year student

Athletics -

The program is very complete. We need a lot of participation, especially in the intramurals. We need to get more people out to the games involving our teams.

Social Life -

We need lots of activities so everyone gets to know each other.

Faculty -

They know how to relate to the students. They're very personal and the teacher-student relationship goes beyond the classroom doors.

Dorm Life - (off-campus)

Religious Life -

People who want to be involved can be, but it's not compulsory.

Why are you here? -

The College is highly recommended for the faculty I'm in (Pre-vet) and it's close to home.

Kim Kivrichuk 1st year student

Athletics -

Excellent! There's a great spirit!

Social Life -

There is lots to do - lots of variety. We must make the choices or be at a lack of time to get things accomplished.

Faculty -

I really appreciate the one-to-one basis the professors have with each student.

Dorm Life -

Getting to know people is great. We're all friends wading through college life together.

Religious Life -

There is super fellowship if you seek it (especially Thursday night at Duhamel).

Why are you here? -

I am here foremost because of God dealing in my life, secondly, to complete two years toward a B. Ed. and thirdly, to get involved in the athletic program.

BASKETBALL - Meet the Stars! -

Gary Roth #25

Gary started playing ball in Jr. High for Haythorne in Sherwood Park. He later went on to Captain the Salisbury Sabres and last season Co-captained the CLC Vikings. He's played forward for most of his career but with the added height of this year's team he was able to switch to guard. Gary is six foot five and has a reach of twelve feet. Look for him to shoot a lot from the top of the key.

Rick Hayes 2nd year student

Athletics -

Hockey is great! Intramurals - soccer was too long. There could be a greater variety including football.

Social Life -

I enjoy the social life here. The opportunities are endless. We could have more dances with more variety.

Faculty -

They are very personal. Here, it's not like being a number in a computer. They're concerned.

Dorm Life -

Great! (I'm glad there's only one Garth Rumburger!)

Religious Life -

It's very available, informal and open.

Why are you here? -

To play hockey and to get an education, not necessarily in that order.

Paula Wilkeneng 1st year student

Athletics -

Really good! There are different sports that everyone can get involved in. For intramurals, it doesn't matter if you're really good or not. You can just go out and have fun.

Social Life -

I love it! It's really great! There are so many things to do! Everyone is so nice!

Faculty -

I think they're all really good. They're willing to help, no matter what.

Religious Life -

Really, really good. They're not pushing it in our faces but we know it is there. Pastor Jim is the best!

Why are you here?

Because I was at Luther College last year - it is affiliated with CLC. It sounded like an interesting place - a lot of fun. Choir was a big drawing card, too.

Greg Hall 2nd year student

Athletics -

The Athletic program isn't too bad. The weight room needs improvements. Intramural soccer went on too long. There should be football as well.

Social Life -

It's what you want to make it. There are lots of things happening. The interrelationship between dorms sometimes isn't what it could be. The ratio of girls to boys should be 3 to 1!!

Faculty -

Excellent!

Dorm Life -

Excellent! "Supoib!"

Religious Life -

Really good! Vespers and chapel are really good. Thursday nights at Duhamel are great!

Why are you here? -

For athletics, academics, cultural, spiritual and social direction.

Jon Eriksson 3rd year student

Athletics -

The most evident is the cross-country running and the various teams - basketball, hockey, etc. You have to have lots of time for team sports. Intramurals are interesting and you can get involved when you have time. It's good that they are offered.

Social Life - It has increased over last year through the addition of a half an hour to dorm hours. Social life is very healthy around here - very active. Its effect is being felt in midterms.

Faculty -

There are some interesting and enjoyable and bizarre people. There are some that set a really good example and make a person admire them.

Dorm Life -

It's a whole new learning experience. A person can go to classes and learn, and still get another dimension of learning through living in dorms. It's something I missed when living off-campus.

Religious Life -

It's a dramatic change from high school life. It's nice that it's there, whether you make use of it or not.

Why are you here? -

I came in grade 12 to get away from the local composite high school. Because I live in Camrose, it's less expensive to go here than to the U of A or elsewhere. I can find enough interesting courses and courses in my subject range for at least two years. It's a nice atmosphere.

DANIEL AMOS, AGAIN (1F)

No, this is not a concert review. For one thing, anyone who was there knows how good it was and anyone else (I suppose there were a few) probably doesn't care to know what he missed. For another, I am incapable of committing what would be a serious crime of ignorance in trying to give a critical review. What I can and could do, though, is to follow the band around after the concert until I got some kind of an interview. So I did.

Daniel Amos, as you may have figured out, is not the name of a person. It is strictly the name of the band, and some people will recognise that Daniel and Amos were two of the prophets in the Old Testament. The band was formed by the lead singer, Terry Taylor, some five years ago, and was drawn together by the fact that each of the band members was active in the Calvary Chapel in Santa Anna. Before this, they were playing in different bands, compiling experience and sharpening talent.

Sorry to disappoint trivia gatherers, but the band members are not biochemistry majors, astronauts, or mountain climbers in their spare time. They spend as much time as they can schedule touring, composing and recording. Three of the band members were caught by the marriage bug, and now go for a month at a time without seeing their wives. The average age of the band is about twenty-five and the oldest member is Terry, twenty-nine.

Ed Mc Taggart, the drummer, let me in on some of the working aspects of the band. I wondered, despite my crack in the last article, just why we hadn't heard of them. The problem turns out to be that they will not get AM radio time until they sign with a major record company, and that they are not yet willing to do. They are still looking for a set-up which will not inhibit them in following the kind of life which is the band's functionality, and until then they will stay with Christian recording studios. They do get some time on FM radio, but unless you are into class and have a good system, that rules out the chance that you have heard of them. On the next album there appear to be a couple of songs with that popular familiarity, so they might hit the charts shortly - which is great. As far as the band is concerned, they want to reach as many people as possible, and as many non-Christians especially.

The group apparently stays in the black only by a whisper, so it has got to be dedication that keeps them going. They are involved Christians, as is obvious to anyone who has heard them talk either on the stage or in person. They seem to be into the approach of using 'missionary zeal' without appearing to be too hard-sell. Frankly, their biblical lyrics might have sunk in to me, subliminally, but all I heard was great rock and roll.

The band was on its first Cross-Canada tour when they stopped here, and they were going to Calgary, Edmonton, Red Deer, Winnipeg, and the far east (Ontario) before going down to Florida via Boston. We got 'em first, guys.

Wanda Parry 2nd year "jock" (?)

Athletics -

I think it's good. We have a lot of spirit and that helps with our athletic program. The fact that we're a community makes a better team. The intramural coordinators need rearranging!!

Social Life -

I think it's great! There's a great variety for everybody to enjoy.

Faculty -

I don't have anything to compare it with.

Dorm Life -

It's the only way to live! It's like living in a looney bin!!

Religious Life -

I love the Christian atmosphere!

Why are you here? -

Who knows?? Because I loved it so much last year, I came back. Why did I come last year? Don't ask me! It was the best dumb mistake I ever made.

Bill Couzens, Counsellor from N.A.I.T.
will be on campus on Thursday, November
22nd at 1:00 p.m.

Any persons considering attending N.A.I.T.

the midterm blues

"Now-you have 50 minutes to complete this 2 hr. exam; 5% is deducted for every spelling mistake; if your eyes leave the paper I'll tear up your exam; 3/4 of the class will probably fail; most of you probably don't know what I'm looking for in the way of correct answers; those of you who missed the class on Friday the 13th won't be able to answer the last 10 pages...
GOOD LUCK!!"

INTRODUCING... OUR NEW SOCIAL CONVENOR

I am looking forward to this year with much enthusiasm. There seems to be an increasing interest in the Students' Union's social functions and I feel that there has arisen a good communication between the council and students. I can only hope that people will take an interest and propose to us some of their ideas.

As some of your may know, a Vaidy concert was being planned for the 28th of October. However, due to problems with the booking agency, the concert fell through.

"THE CLC EMPTY BELLIES"

This ain't the story 'bout a man named Jed --
It's about some students, who couldn't get fed.
Then one day they were paddlin' down the river
Then all at once they all began to shiver!

Hypothermia, that is ...
Real Cold --
Polar Bear Country ...

We'll the first thing you know old Gibber had a fire,
And we're all wonderin' if there's a cook for hire
Said "CLC is the place you ought to be"
So we loaded up the boats and headed down the stream.

Saskatchewan, that is ...
It's the CLC Empty Bellies!

(Banjo imitations: Instrumental)

Jacques de la Rivière!

This has been a Cheese Whis Presentation!

FRIGG HANSEN

Dear Frigg:

My roommate sleeps in till 10:30 every Tuesday and Thursday. This means she stays out late Monday and Wednesday night. I have 8:00 classes each morning and when she comes in she wakes me up by turning on the lights. What should I do?

- Lights make my eyes red

Dear Red Eyes:

Your problem is quite easily solved, so not to worry. I'll just give you a couple of tips that I've found worked well in the past. For a few dollars you can get yourself some night blinds which will filter all light out. If you don't like that you can simply unscrew the light bulb so she can't turn it on. You may, however, have an abrupt awakening as she verbally abuses you for bruises incurred in the dark. Good night.

- Frigg

I'm more at home with the gut on a on a tennis racket!

It is going to be a real pleasure working with the social committee this year. The people who are involved are primarily the House social coordinators. They are a group of fine, hardworking people and with a nucleus such as we have every endeavor we undertake promises to be a success. (Notice to social committee: where were you Monday at 3:00?)

Remember that this weekend is Homecoming, a time for everyone at the college to have a great time and meet some of the returning veterans of CLC.

In closing I would like to thank those who have helped with the social functions thus far. We need you, and your help has been (and will be!) greatly appreciated. It is going to be a pleasure serving you this year.

God Bless.
Kevin Ree
Social Convenor

(Reprise)

So now you know the reason why we all got a cold,
And we would like to thank you for being sort-a bold.
So if you're all a wonderin' 'bout what this story means --
Tough Luck - sit down - and help us eat our beans!

Keep your boots on ...
Take your teeth out ...
Y'all come back now hear'!

* Sung to the tune of "The Beverly Hillbillies". (If Radio CLC ever gets going, this song will be heard in all its original glory by: Chris Micol (Schwen), John Lentz (Love), Glenn Howard (The Duck), Murray Roddis (Purry Murray), Henrik Asfeldt, Darren Sarvari. - Ed.)
